President Dauphin introduced Larry Mintz who in turn introduced his wife Eileen Mintz for a program describing the history and accomplishments of the (HUD) Housing and Urban Development's HOPE VI (6) effort to replace severely distressed public housing, occupied exclusively by poor families, with redesigned mixed-income housing. Mrs. Mintz was the lead attorney for this 5.9 billion dollar program. HOPE VI grew out of the work of the National Commission on Severely Distressed Public Housing which was established by Congress in 1989. Congress charged the Commission with identifying 'severely distressed' public housing developments, assessing strategies to improve conditions at these developments, and preparing a national action plan for dealing with the problem. Based on its investigation, the Commission concluded that roughly 86,000 of the 1.3 million public housing units nationwide qualified as severely distressed and that a new and comprehensive approach would be required to address the range of problems existing at these developments. Conditions have improved in public housing through the demolition, rehabilitation, reconfiguration, or replacements of obsolete projects. The billions of federal dollars allocated for HOPE VI have leveraged billions more in other public, private, and philanthropic investments.
