Leading the Way At San—Lee

President Paul Dauphin opened the meeting with the quotes of the week: "If you hold a cat by the tail, you learn things you can not learn any other way." - Mark Twain. "It ain't what you don't know that gets you into trouble. It's what you know for sure that just ain't so." - Mark Twain.

Rotary guests: Assistant District Governor, Sam Sillaman, Jonesboro Rotary President, Vernon Van Bruggen, Jonesboro Rotary Past President, Ralph Upton, and Jonesboro Rotary Rotarians Larry Aiken and Maria Moffa.

President Dauphin led the 4 way test.

Gary Cox introduced Michael Cotton with the Excel Personal Development Corporation for a program describing how Excel uses a five-star process to work with schools and other agencies to provide families with Community Support Services to empower them at being self-sufficient. Excel Personal Development was founded in 1998 on the belief that every person is unique and has special qualities, talents and abilities that make him or her a valuable member of society. Excel believes that when sought out, good qualities will appear. When nourished, they will grow. When cultivated, they will blossom. When cherished, people can produce and contribute in an extraordinary way. After presenting mental health statistics for adults and youth, Michael presented the Excel five-star process for client support: 1) comprehensive assessment, 2) planning for personal success, 3) implementing person centered plans, 4) tracking progress and outcomes, 5) evaluating the process.
